REGINA—the Capital City of Saskatchewan—is situated on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and Canadian Northern Railway. Regina also has direct connection with United States points, the Great Northern Railway having running rights over the Grand Trunk Pacific boundary line. Twelve railway lines radiate from Regina. Bonds are guaranteed for ten additional lines.

Regina leads the way as a distributing centre in Western Canada. It is the largest point of distribution of farm implements in the world, business in this line in one year having reached a total of over $25,000,000.

Regina serves 2,255 miles of railway lines, on which are located 250 towns and villages. As a manufacturing centre, Regina has become noted, 36 factories being located in the city.

Regina encourages industrial development. Spur track sites, situated within two minutes' walk of the very heart of the city, are owned by the city, and sold to industrial concerns at a low figure. This industrial area already contains many fine large buildings, in which is invested millions of capital. This area is served by water, electric light and power, pavements, sidewalks and street cars.

Two-thirds of the 243,500,000 bushels of grain raised in the province, and 2,013,850 of the stock in the province, are raised in the districts of which Regina is the centre. Regina's stockyards are municipally owned. Two-thirds of Saskatchewan's population of 700,000 reside in these districts.

Regina is a city that has been built on town-planning lines. Clean streets are a feature. It is recognized as the best paved city of its age in Canada. The area inside the city limits is 7,850 acres. of that 257 acres are devoted to parks and 75 acres to exhibition grounds for the provincial and other fairs.

Regina being the capital city of Saskatchewan, and the seat of government, possesses a $2,500,000 parliament building. On the north side of the lake is located Wascana Park, which contains 47 acres. Immediately adjoining the park is the residential section. To the south of the parliament buildings, a goodly number of residences have also been built.

Regina is the educational centre of the province, including among its educational buildings the Collegiate Institute, Regina College, Anglican College, Ladies' Anglican College, Normal School, fifteen public schools, three separate schools and a number of business colleges. Several denominational colleges are proposed.

Regina is a city of splendid churches and beautiful homes, as the accompanying illustrations will show.

Regina is a city of municipal ownership, the power and light plant, the street railway and waterworks all being owned by the city.

Regina's population is estimated at 50,000, having grown from 4,000 in 1904. Since 1909 the city has grown from 12,000 to its present size.
